In such cases the proposal is definitely in the interests of the University rather than of the individual and implies a pre-determined policy on the part of the University rather than the consideration of special ability in a particular direction by an individual.

II The following terms shall govern the advance to be made in such cases —

- (1) The period of absence from the University shall be determined by the Executive Council
- (2) Leave on full pay for such period as may be due together with leave not due on half pay for a period not exceeding six months.

- (5) In the event of a teacher's returning to service in the same grade as that in which he served prior to leaving for further study and of his receiving only the normal increments the advance shall be considered to be repaid by service at such a rate that the whole advance would be repaid by five years' actual service within the University exclusive of any leave taken

The following sums shall be repaid to the University in all cases —

The amount advanced plus interest at 4 p c in the event of the teacher remaining in the active service of the University for a period of at least two years after his return from study leave and at 6 p c in case he leaves the service of the University earlier Service here means actual teaching service exclusive of leave

Such portion of the leave salary not due and received as may not have been worked off by service plus interest at 4 p c, in case he remains in the active service of the University for a period of at least two years after his return from study leave and at 6 p.c in case he leaves the service of the University earlier

Interest under (a) and (b) above shall be calculated monthly on the balance excluding interest due to the University at the end of each month.

Provided that if the leave taken prior to a vacation does not exceed 21 days, the Executive Council may decide that the vacation either wholly or in part shall be counted as active service

- (5) Repayment shall be made by monthly deductions from salary after return of such amount that the sum due is fully repaid within five years of return. In exceptional cases the time may be extended to 7 years by the Executive Council but the grant of such extension shall require the support of  $\frac{2}{3}$ rd of the members present or, of 10 members, whichever is greater.
- (6) In the event of his leaving the service of the University before the repayment of the sums due has been completed, the balance repayable shall be paid in one instalment.

- (c) The Executive Council shall determine into which category particular proposals fall and the method and time of making payments.

- (d) All teachers to whom advances are paid shall assign to the University Insurance Policies covering the full amount of the advance and leave salary not due to be paid by the University. Such policies shall be maintained in a manner prescribed by the Executive Council

CHAPTER XXXIX.

THE PROVIDENT FUND.

1. - (a) in cases of all advances not exceeding Rs. 1000/- the Vice-Chancellor and the Treasurer ; and
- (b) in cases of all advances exceeding Rs. 1000/- the Executive Council.

Provided that all house-building advances as defined under Section 4 (a) shall be made on the recommendation of a committee consisting of the Vice-Chancellor, the Treasurer and the Dean of the Faculty of Law.

2. Only the following shall ordinarily be recognised as legitimate occasions for advance :—

- (a) Expenses in connection with the illness of a subscriber or a member of his family, viz. , his parents, wife, children, and brothers and sisters entirely dependent on him ;

- (b) Expenses in connection with marriage, funerals or ceremonies which by religion of the subscriber it is incumbent upon him to perform and in connection with which it is obligatory that expenditure should be incurred.
- (c) Expenses of passage or passages of any member or members of a subscriber's family as defined in clause (a) above making a journey to join the subscriber from a distance more than 500 miles and, in the case of the subscriber himself, joining his post from a similar distance ; and
- (d) Expenses in connection with the building of a house as defined in clause (a) of Section 4 below.

3. Advances made under clauses (a), (b) and (c) of Section 2 shall be multiples of 24 and subject to the following rules :—

Advances will be recovered in not more than 24 successive monthly instalments. A subscriber may, however, at his option make repayment in less than 24 instalments or repay two or more instalments at the same time. Recovery will commence from the first payment of the full month's salary after the advance is made, but no recovery will be made from an officer while he is on leave otherwise than leave on full pay. The instalments will be paid by compulsory deduction from salary and will be in addition to the usual subscription.

4. Advances under clause (d) of Sec. 2 shall be subject to the following rules :—

- (a) House-building shall include the purchase of an existing dwelling house, the construction of a new dwelling house, including the cost of a site, addition to an existing structure and extensive structural alteration, involving heavy outlay, to an already existing dwelling house, the subscriber being required in each such case to prove exclusive title in the property, but shall exclude petty repairs, the building or provision of a second house.

It shall be understood that the purpose of any such subscriber in applying for a loan shall be either (a) the provision for himself or for his family of a present residence, or (b) the provision of a residence for the use of himself or his family immediately after retirement from the service of the University.

- (b) No advance made at any one time shall exceed either twelve months' salary of the subscriber or the amount subscribed by him together with interest accrued thereon whichever amount is less, but the authority as defined under Sec. 1 may sanction a sum less than that applied for if it be convinced that a smaller amount should be given either in the interest of the beneficiaries of the Provident Fund or because the sum applied for is in excess of legitimate needs or out of proportion to the nature of the right possessed by the subscriber in the land on which he proposes to build or effect improvement. All advances shall be multiples of 36.

- (c) A subscriber applying for an advance shall have to prove clear title in respect of the land which he proposes to buy on which he proposes to build or otherwise effect improvement as contemplated under clause (a) above and shall also specify the nature of the right he possesses or will possess therein.
- (d) The payment of an advance may be made either in quarterly instalments or as a whole according to the requirements of the case. Any sum not utilised for the purpose of the advance shall be refunded and the University may stop the payment of quarterly instalments if it be proved that the sums advanced are not being used for the purpose for which they were taken. A statement certifying that the amounts taken have been properly disbursed shall be furnished in respect of all advances under Sec. 2(d).

- (e) In the event of the property in respect of which the advance has been made being sold or otherwise alienated the University will be entitled to demand immediate refund of the unrepaid balance of the advance together with interest ; and the Executive Council may, on the report of the Committee appointed under section 1, order the recovery of the said amount in such manner as it may determine out of the salary of the employee or otherwise. The Executive Council may take similar measures in respect of any amount ordered to be refunded under clause (d).
- (f) Advances shall be recovered by deduction of successive monthly instalments, equal to one-thirtysixth part of the total advance, from the salary bill of the subscriber taking the advance. The University may, however, permit recovery to be made in a smaller number of the instalments if the subscriber taking the advance so desires and the subscriber may also at his option repay two or more instalments at the same time. When payment under clause (d) above is made in quarterly instalments the recovery will be made by monthly deduction of one-thirtysixth part of the entire sum sanctioned and not of the sum advanced in part payment. Deduction will begin from the salary bill of the month following that in which payment of the whole advance was made or the payment of the quarterly instalments began. The deduction of an instalment will be in addition to the usual subscription.

Provided that in the case of a subscriber on leave without full or average pay and in the case of a subscriber whose period of engagement is likely to terminate before the entire amount with interest accruing thereon under section 5 below can be recovered according to the procedure laid down in clause (f) above and section 5 below, the Executive Council shall, at the time of sanctioning the leave or the advance, as the case may be, determine how the recovery of the advance or any portion thereof outstanding together with interest due under section 5 shall be made.

5. A subscriber shall pay simple interest to his account in the Provident Fund on account of advance made to him calculated according to the rate prescribed in Statute 20 (4). The interest due as foresaid shall be deducted together with the usual subscription, in not more than three monthly instalments from the salary bill of the subscriber beginning with the month following that in which the whole of the advance has been repaid.

6. No subscriber may receive a second advance from the Provident Fund until an interval of six months has elapsed after a previous advance has been completely recovered in accordance with the procedure provided therefor, except in cases of special urgency and upon the recommendation of the Vice-Chancellor and the Treasurer.
